

The NJ Do Not Call List has helped millions of NJ residents to be free from the harrassing and almost non-stop calls from telemarketers. I have seen almost a 100% drop off of telemarketing calls whereas before the law, I would receive between 20 and 50 calls a day. Any weakening of this law would be detrimental. I pay for telephone service so I can communicate outside of the house, not for advertising to find it's way in. If I want to contact a company, it should be on my terms, not theirs.
